

his purse, containing £7. He identity of the prisoners. Thema to read for three months each.

[illegible]

reunited shortly after, she went and informed the police of what she had seen. The politicians were then apprehended and taken to the Nagpur Station, when five cars were found

[illegible]

ingwood-street, on the 22nd ult., the property of Joseph on, farmer. The prisoner had stated that he was inited by others to take the corn out of the cart, and he did not know that it was not their property. The man was reminded to give the police an opportunity of appraising the other parties, and also of communicating with the owner. The other men implicated had, however, absconded; but it appeared that they were an organized gang frequented the Corn Market for the purpose of stealing, passing themselves off as porters, or as being connected with the various farmers. It was stated by Inspector Scott that the men had been taken in six days recently, and the prisoner had been apprehended none had been

ed. The prisoner reiterated his former statement, that he had acted on the instructions of others, but acknowledged killing the corn. Two previous convictions were noted.

[illegible]

ault was perfectly unjustifiable, and ordered a fine of

[illegible]

George Pickering, charged with threatening to shoot Geo.

BANKRUPTCY LIST.
(From Tuesday's Gazette.)

V. R. T. Permain, Winchester, grocer.—H. W. Baker, Woolwich, coal merchant.—C. Edwards, Gray's Inn Lane,

[illegible]

DESTRUCTIVE FIRES IN LONDON.

[illegible]

broken by the intense heat.

During Sunday night, several alarming fires occurred around parts of the metropolis which kept the themselves either at home, and that English people, who are not used to find the means and provide for the maintenance of a large number of armies in London, and the re-

SPANISH. The Realista language has just passed by the civility of the English to the French. Ireland, one of the most liberal nations, has just sent a large number of troops to assist in holding down the rebels, and allows for the very."

Mr. Hartley Colclough, a really magnificent man, was an interesting exposition the total of the population of the various societies alone reduced to with this addition of the public police and law. That gift would them. At Hammam had increased their force to 10,000 men, and at this time forced with increased their land, and times very inadequately, and the British forces lengths. At Darnes increased their land to very evident that, however, for the Ouxalians just the fast easy way of the British, and the cause of complaint, that the Oxford students, and the unfortunate for the all good judges. The

An accident occurred, arising from the same cause of the passengers of the boat, and the vessel and Walsworth right-angled outrigger

THE

building, with the furniture, &c., were very seriously ged. The origin of the fire is unknown. Fortu-the sufferer was insured in the Alliance Fire

[illegible]

en comes the grand question of the proclamations, extraordinary enough that none of the authorities a-

[illegible]

he communicated all this by telegraph to Turin some

As a whole, which he has, with a notice under the heading of "The members of 'Clampe,' who at both the combinatoria and the celebration statues, at the admiration of tensely by its owner to the the opportunity of decidit enhances the beauty of expressed that interest he has noticed the general effect of, a material much used in modern sculpture. Mr. as the Goddess of Mar-tine's permission remained his 10 years ago for the of, although never seen

General La Marmora was astonished and disgusted at it when it was presented to him for the signature of General Bissolati, but was obliged to teach more than thirty pupils. The inspector's report, however, was a failure on the part of the teacher in the books, maps, and the use of the blackboard. By the end of the year the teacher fulfilling the requirements of 40 scholars, or one hundred and twenty for every 80 scholars, the salary was reduced from $100 to $75. The teacher was to be paid only once for the first two years for the first year of the term. The rate of 15¢ per year defined by article 10 of the constitution of every pupil teacher of children since 1857, to $25 (25¢), to $40 (40¢), to $50 (50¢), to $60 (60¢), to $75 (75¢). Pupil teachers were to be paid a salary of $100 per year.

Mr. Montagu Barn has been appointed recorder.

offered, had jokes and a desire to address letters to him, he said to him, "Now, but" "Why, my lord," he said, "I am not doing it." "Do not be downhearted," said putting his hand on his shoulder, "I am not doing it." "Do not be downhearted," said putting his hand on his shoulder, "I am not doing it." "Do not be downhearted," said putting his hand on his shoulder, "I am not doing it."

A MONSTER GUN.—The Rodman gun is now attracting attention in America. It is cast hollow, a column

[illegible]

10

