considerable number of young men have worked most successfully in raising sufficient money for the present campaign that their efforts are a source of great success. A suitable altar, designed by Mr. J. H. Consett, adjoining the choir, has been secured from the same source. The estimated cost, roughly speaking, amounts nearly $1,500 for the altar and the chancel, and $2,000 for the sanctuary. The choir is 18 feet in length, from floor to ceiling, and is a central vestibule, opening to the left and right, and leading to the rear of the church. To the right of the choir is a large choir gallery, and the choir will be carried round the choir and organ by a balcony, and the organ will be carried round the choir and organ by a balcony, and the organ will be carried round the choir and organ by a balcony.
