the judges were all well, and he wished every whiter

Mr. J. Maclean, in a very forcible address, reviewed the history of trade unionism and said that ever since the first proclamation forbidding the right of association, the workers of the world, the labouring classes had struggled for liberty and the independence of their existence. He said that the workers of the world, the unassociated bodies had been natural results from natural causes, forced into existence by the necessities of life. He said that the workers of the world had been struggling for liberty and independence against the greed of capital. They had continued that policy with few waverings, enlarging their sphere of action, and their demands, and he demanded. At the present time their power and influence none could deny. Concluding, he appealed to the workers of the world to unite in the great branch of the world, and he assured them that they would be nearer the dawn of that day when their labour would be emancipated from the greed of capital.

at the present time the Stanley club is in debt to the extent of $35, and it is anything but probable that the club will be able to meet such an adverse balance facing them. It is to be the impression in the district that the club is not going to be able to make the combination that is needed in order to achieve success. As was intimated at the annual meeting, the club is not going to be able to look to, as it should have been, inasmuch as twenty-one members and players of the club were present at the meeting. The voting resulted in a tie, the chairman giving his casting vote in favour of the proposition to continue the fight against the loan. In dismissing the proposition to continue the fight against the loan, the fact that without unanimity, it could not possibly have been attended with that success desired.

THE CLUB'S PRESIDENT.

Without saying that Conn. Jos. Holman, president of the club, is a man of (Hear, hear.) He had much pleasure in coupling with the toast the names of Mewar Smith and Starforth. (Applause.)—Mr. Smith said it gave him very great pleasure to respond to the toast. The best bullock he had seen that year had been chosen at that mart that day. He wished the

(of the West Pelton Branch) having spoken on the necessity of combination amongst Co-operative employees, and the advantages to be derived by the establishment of branches, it was unanimously resolved that a branch of the Union be formed, and that Mr. Storey be appointed president:

used a president worthy of the position. The manner in which he conducted the business of the annual meeting tends to show that his heart is in the local club, and his re-election of president a popular one and one that will no doubt be repeated with pleasure by all connected with the club.

SCHOOL BOARD.

of this Board was held and Schools on Thursday morning. The other members of the board, T. J. Moore, G. E. Mason, T. J. and Mr. W. W. Thompson.

Attendance.

Mr. R. R. Tisdall, representing the attendance officer, considered the unsatisfactory condition that had prevailed, and stated that their district was afflicted with a contagious disease. He was anxious to see the members of the board, and to have them attend the meeting; but he has meeting the attendance at the meeting; but he has not complied with the law.

He present.

He came and we told him we have to appear before the board, and that we are running about instead of attending to the duties of the board.

He decided to put the matter to the attendance officer to obtain a list of the names of the children who are absent from school.
