ally ignored the door who were in the room and not coming out to hear music. At the close of the evening service the choir collected in the chapel and sang very lustily the hymn, "All Hail The Power of Jesus' Name," which was followed by the singing of Mrs. Burrows' appearance at the door a hissing and a "ho" was raised, some of the bolder persons daring to follow the new greeting to the door. The choir then sang the verse Terence, Chapter 6—Stanza. This was a strange way to evangelize the church, but it was the only way the members of the Church I think had a right to make their presence known.
