the Clerk was empowered to forward the tenders, &c., to the Educational Department for approval.

ATTENDANCE OFFICER'S REPORT.
 FLEMEN.—Owing to the midsummer holidays I was not the usual school reporter. On the 25th of the month, Elizabeth Ridley's two boys were ill. John, aged 9, was sent to the industrial school until he was 16 years of age, and James, who was ordered to the Workhouse. In all the time during the three weeks previous to the closing, many of the children were absent from meals.

 report was adopted.

A MEMORIAL.
Memorial, signed by several ratepayers, was taken for the removal of the monument.

MR. SLOANE moved that the application be granted, and was seconded by Mr SLOANE.

THE CHAIRMAN AND THE TEMPERANCE QUESTION.

The following letter was read:—

76, Pallace Chambers,
Westminster, S.W.,
June 20th, 1894.

SIR,—I lately advocated before some of both Houses of Parliament dealing with the evils following the ex-use of alcohol should be incorporated in the books in all the Board Schools; that the should give instruction in that part of the pay the minimum of 15 hours per annum, part of the duty of Government examiners to examine the children on those chapters reading book.

Committee was elected to consider the question, would feel much obliged if you would give opinion
to the desirability of making it the way ance teaching universal and compulsory.
as to whether those on whose behalf you are likely to assist in carrying out the so, what do they consider the most procedure?

CLERK stated that Mr W. B. Richardson's question of temperance was in use at school. The question of having an examination subject was for the Board to decide.

CHAIRMAN said it was most desirable that the use of the excessive use of alcohol should be pointed in the reading books in all Board
