

LITERARY SELECTIONS.

ORANGE DEMONSTRATION AT BELFAST.—THE

on the countenance. The Pills prevent both unpleasant consequences; they improve the appetite and with the increase of desire for food, they augment the powers of digestion and assimilation in the stomach. Holloway's Pills deal most satisfactorily with deranged or diseased conditions of the many organs engaged in extracting nourishment for our bodies from our various diets—as the liver, stomach, and bowels, over all of which they exercise the most salutary control. By resorting at an early stage of the disease to these purifying and laxative Pills, the dyspeptic is enabled to reduce his weight and strength, and his salivaceous gradually vanishes.

bank Mr. C., Cadogan and Mr Arthur Cadogan Penkman Priory, Northumberland; Mr. J. H. Miller, New York City; Mr. T. S. Lister, New York City; Rev. G. T. Taylor, St. Peter's, Westminster, North Yorks, and some others. The floor of the cave is about thirty feet above the river brain, and the entrance at the great discovery of 21, was close to the stream, but it is now at a considerable distance, owing to extensive quarrying, which has destroyed the west part of the cave—has actually removed the rock from the entrance, so that no one could go in.

For several yards the cave is not greater than 2 feet high by 3 feet wide—many places being smaller—which rendered its exploration necessary on hands and knees—a matter of difficulty considering that lights are necessary, and must be carried

In London and its vicinity several companies exist for the purpose of supplying healthy and comfortable houses for the operative classes, but nearly the whole of them are based on principles that do more justice to the producer than to the occupant. The Metropolitan Association, the Industrial Dwellings Company, and the Housing of Labour more being invited by Miss Conant, are all conducted on similar principles, which belong to the old school of exchange, and which is nothing better than a tax on the industry of tenants.

I beg leave to inform my readers that I find no fault with landlords who thus invest their capital; they have a right to make the most of it; it is our present social duty to encourage them to do so. During many centuries civilised life has abolished the right of the knout and the use of torture, valuable rights were given to several classes of citizens; improvements were introduced into the administration of justice; the army was recruited from the royal domains; the first germ of representative institutions introduced, by permitting the Senate, the conservators of the law, the right of remonstrance against their introduction; and the army, and the measures to which him enthusiastically beloved by his subjects. The young Prince of Georgia was induced to acknowledge the sovereignty of Russia, and to accept a post in his army. After the execution of Alexander and the First Consul, and finally the emperor joined England, Austria, and Sweden in the war against France in 1800. It commenced at the moment that he had frequently declared that whenever he was under a pressure and gazed upon his talisman he felt revived to renewed energy, and experienced instinctive conviction that he should surmount his embarrassment.

MR. PEARSON'S "FRIENDS."—Now that Mr. Pearson is no longer in England, the begging-letter writers will have the opportunity of concentrating their efforts upon one other man. If Mr. Pearson chose to be communicative upon the subject, he could set before the world a moving picture of the miseries of a philanthropist. Everybody thinks he has a right to persecute him for money. The man whose goods are about to be seized for rent, the broken-down actor who wants ten pounds to tide him over, the miser who has lost his money, the

BIRTHS.

CONSETT.—At Victoria Street, on the 7th inst., Mr. O'Neill, of a daughter.

BLACKBURN.—At 124, on the 6th inst., Mrs. Nelson, a son.

—At Primrose Row, on the 7th inst., Mrs. Dixon, of a son.

GAZAR, on the 9th inst., Mrs. Murray, of a son.

At 167, on the 11th inst., Mrs. Weir, of a son.

CHAPMAN.—On the 6th inst., the wife of Mr. R. A. Barker, of a son.

HESMAN.—On the 10th inst., the wife of Mr. Cathal Hesman Courant, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

NEWCASTLE.—At the Wesleyan Chapel, Brunswick Place, on the 10th inst.,

little of Austerlitz, where the stern obstinacy of Russians yielded to the enthusiastic valour of the French, and he witnessed the irretrievable rout of his

[illegible]

Rev., auctioneer, Blackhill, to Mary Hannah, secum.

daughter of George Brown, of Newbury, late LAUNCESTER.—On the 5th inst., Mr. Christopher John Wheeler, to Miss Mary Ann Marley, both of Lancaster.
GLENHAM.—On the 4th inst., Mr. John W. Goss, to Mr. T. W. Whately, of Walsingham, to Miss Sarah
Wheeler, of Glenham.
At the Roman Catholic Chapel, on the 25th inst., Mr.
Michael McElroy, to Miss Elizabeth Hall, both of Tow Law.
At the Register Office, on the 5th inst., Mr. John Wheeler, of Walsingham, Westwicks, to Miss Elizabeth
Hall, of Tow Law.
On the 5th inst., Mr. Jos. Lowry, to Miss Elizabeth
Huggins, both of Rockingham.
At the Roman Catholic Chapel, on the 5th inst., Mr.
John Wheeler, to Miss Catherine McElroy, of Tow Law.
On the 5th inst., Mr. William Colling, of Burnside, to Miss Joseph Chappell, to Miss Isabella Wilson, of St.
John's Chapel.

DEATHS.

JOHN PEARL.—On the 2nd inst., aged 25, Mr. George
Pearl, of Tow Law.
On the 5th inst., aged 4, a female, George East, of Tow Law.
On the 5th inst., aged 11 months, George East, of Tow Law.
On the 1st inst., aged 25, Mr. John Wheeler, of Mr. N. S. Thorne, of Tow Law.
On the 1st inst., aged 2 years, Sarah Ann
MORTIMER.—At Bolton, on the 3rd inst., Mr.
Wheeler, of Tow Law.
On the 3rd inst., aged 2 years, Mr. Thomas Cresswell,

0

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint smudges, characteristic of old paper. A dark, vertical shadow or crease runs down the right side of the page, suggesting it is part of a bound volume. The page is framed by dark borders on the left and right sides.

