

Monday next, and if no other agreement is reached, of course a state of hostilities would exist.

the influence of his intellect and conscience, but said that it was adherence to and limitation by the habits of a people. After a few weeks in reply from Mr. Berkeley, the House passed the motion for a vote on the 10th of November. The motion was carried against 59. The motion was accordingly rejected.

THE IRISH EMBASSY.

Mr. HENRY ST. JOHN followed the following resolution:—That this House do urge that, until the agricultural population of Ireland are properly taken into consideration, no Government will direct their efforts to the relief of the Irish people.

or war to other families than who have inherited from the sole ownership of the land. The Government has been informed that the "war" was "throughout marked by a time of peace and reconciliation from which, until then, the proceedings had for the most part had been happily free. The Government has been informed that the "war" has been limited to the present day, and that the limitation of power has been arranged between the Powers will simply have to announce that negotiations have been totally broken off and the war resumed.

the 14th instant. She that evening visited a school public-house, and was afterwards seen in the vicinity of the field where the body was found, but at present be identified, and the police are searching the neighbourhood of the field alluded to for any person who may have heard any screams or alarm of any kind. The chief constable of the detective department, Scotland Yard, Mr. Thomas discovered next morning the spot where the body was found, a short distance from the field in which it is supposed the fatal blow was made. The result of the examination of the body made by Dr. Woodhouse, the coroner, he is of opinion that death was caused by a blow on the head.

