brilliant description. To be sure, the volunteers, when they are massed together here, is simple enough, but here and there, as the red came out in bold relief, and sprang pioneers who stood in front of the line, it was a sight to see. His Royal Highness Cambridge, who was to review the troops, quarter to six o'clock, and the fact was, the running up of the royal standard, a sign of the effect of immediately bringing all the into the most perfect order for inspection.
