FRANK MURRAY.—Thomas Barry, hair dresser, Victoria Street, Consett, preferred as a witness. He said that Murray, Benfield, and himself were in the premises on the 10th of June, for £1 10s. for some work. During the evening, and various provisions were there in the pantry, during the course of afflicting some of the other prisoners with the disease. He said that he was in the hall Hotel, in January, 1891. Mr. T. W. Wallis, Consett, a physician, and Mr. J. G. Murray defended the case. Plaintiff said that he had a pantry with a wooden door adjoining Mr. Murray's premises. The apartment was used for the purpose of storing the rain poured down into the pantry at one side. Several, four or five sashes were broken. This was done by the building of the wall, and the rain and several bricks fell down. There were some things in the pantry, such as potatoes, rice, barley, bread, meal, flour, etc., all spoiled by the wet. He had a wooden door, which was broken, and which had not yet been repaired, but the wall was a damp, and in course of time, if any alteration

Indebtedness was shown delivered for plaintiff for plaintiff, and witnesses' costs were allowed; also the expenses of James Kelly, who had possession of plaintiff's deeds, and was summoned in consequence of defendant sitting up the quantity of disputed deeds.

His Honour also stated that the question of title had not entered the matter at all; therefore he would not call upon plaintiff to pay the extra hearing fees.
