upon the amount of population. It is only in populous districts that the vaccination is carried out at regular intervals throughout the whole year. The regulations of Her Majesty's Council provide that towns shall be divided into districts according to the union, and that in each district there shall be one or more persons; that there shall be only one station in each district; and that vaccination be carried out in the district, once; and in two for the most populous; their Lordships think it desirable that a population of 40,000 or 50,000, or even more, should be assigned to each station. It is to be regarded for such population as those are, and in certain continuous weekly vaccination throughout the year.

in the less populated districts of the country, the of procuring arm-in-arm vaccination with the of lymph cannot be obtained, if weekly attend-throughout the whole year are appointed. The

The Board is not aware of the difficulty which may sometimes arise in the case of parents who refuse to have their children vaccinated when the days of vaccination are few in the course of the year. To obviate this, the Board, in accordance with the provisions of the Act, has arranged to have the vaccination of children to be vaccinated when the days of vaccination are few in the course of the year.
