Tax Gas Accountant and ROBERTS'S WAGES.—There had been a meeting of the High-way, Telegraph, and Finance Committee during the month, and it was reported as follows:—The engineer had been paid $100 by the Board. Richardson and Thomas Thwaitell, the two of the roadmen, for an advance in wages, recommended that they have an advance of $25 a month, the man being quite worth that extra money. The Gas Company's account, which they examined last month, but which they recommended to be discussed by the Board to pay, attracted their serious attention. They began to report that they have discovered that the serious excess of the account is directly traceable to a breakage in the service pipe of the meter lamp in

WAS PROPOSED FEWER HOSPITALS.—Mr. Charles Nelson said before the Board separated he might inform them that the joint-committee appointed to consider the hospital question were of opinion that fewer hospitals were desirable, and he believed that it would be erected in what was known as the "pest" district by way of experiment.—The meeting was adjourned.

ly, for example, as "Gastin's rovin' Robin," The rig's o' barley." There was also the love o' "Dundee Gray." These songs were usually composed by some one possessing but little merit, yet often sung by Mr. Morrison; they harp upon the sentiments and stir to the depth the finest chords of our nature. What shall we say, then, about the effect produced by the singing of such songs as "Ye banks and braes o' bonny Doon," "The bonnie lass o' Dundee," "The bonnie bairn o' Ayr," "Scots wha hae their Wallace slain?" The way in which the last-named was sung was beyond all praise, and justly elicited forth the spontaneous and prolonged applause of the house, which compliment the gentleman happily acknowledged. In responding to the cheering of his audience, Mr. Morrison remarked that he would sing a song,

To the Editor of the Connecticut Guardian.
 "—Having visited the above mine on the 12th inst. for space to briefly remark on the same. Burnhope mine is situated by the main road, midway from Shotley Bridge to Blainville, in the ecclesiastical parish of Evesham, where a man who has not travelled that road for many years would now see on the line of a north and south, three steam engines, two of which are only sending into the air columns of smoke, on Friday by mistake to surface rich lead ore. This is especially applies to the Burnhope mine. The gentleman who has been rewarded here has the sanguine and perseverance all lead miners should be possessed of. He
