COMPLIMENTARY SUPPER AND

TESTIMONIAL AT BLACKHILL.

Last Friday evening, a number of the friends and well-wishers of Mr James Inglis entertained him to supper at the Station Hotel, Blackhill, prior to leaving his situation at Consett Office to fill one more responsible and lucrative at Warrington. Mr Inglis, secretary of Consett Iron Works, occupied chair, supported on the right by the guest of evening, and on the left by Mr Ainsworth. The chair was ably filled by Mr Heymer, supported on the right by Mr Riechley and Russell. Full notice having been done to the good cheer produced by Mr Turner, the table was quickly cleared of the fragments, and wine of various kinds took its place. After the usual loyal and patriotic

The Chairman asked the company to fill their shoes to the brim, for that they had now arrived at the most interesting part of the programme, viz: the health of Mr James Inglis, their guest, "on se account they were met together, to wish god-speed in is new sphere of labour. The rman in his remarks mentioned that Mr Inglis had eight teams in the Company, during which period he had served the Company diligently and well, and that they were sorry to part with him. The neighbourhood would also feel his loss, as he had taken a very great interest in the management of the Blackhill Mechanics' Institute, inaugurating the debating society in connection therewith, and on several occasions being one of the leaders in those debates. A der and reciter, Mr. Inglis's services were in request. The chairman then made the presentation, which consisted of a handsome marble plaque bearing the following inscription,—"Praised to Mr James Inglis by his fellow clerks and friends, of Consett, as a token of respect and esteem, March 17th 1882."

man for the flattering manner in which he proposed his health, and the company for the al and enthusiastic way they had replied to it. For the valuable and handsome timepiece they presented to him, words were quite inadequate to convey to them the feelings which agitated his breast at the palpable mark of their esteem and love. It would be cherished by him as a token of many pleasant memories, and as a reminder of the many pleasant times he had spent with them.

her boasts followed: "The Consett Iron Company" proposed by Mr. Richley, reply by Mr. Ainslie; "The Trade of the District," proposed by Heymer, reply by Mr. McDonald; "The ...," proposed by Mr. J. P. Roe, reply by Mr. Ainslie. Songs were sung by Messrs Peterlick, Hall, Park, Heymer, McDonald, Templer.

beg to draw attention to the concert to be on Monday evening, in the Central Hall, in the funds of our local cricket club. A goodly display of musical talent is announced to appear, and the programme contains several first-class pieces.

NOTICE IS THE PRICE OF COALS.—The duties in Durham supplying the depot trade will, the 1st of April, reduce their prices on household coals 1s. per ton and 6d. per ton from nuts and small coals for household purposes, by this means taking off 1s. 6d. per ton.

SCIENCE OF PHRENOLOGY.—Professor Keswick engaged in giving a course of lectures on the science of phrenology at the Town Hall, Shotley. We have not had the privilege of being present at his lectures but we understand that he treated the various characters who came up to be examined most marvellously. It is to be hoped larger audiences will be present to-morrow (day) and Monday. From an advertisement in another column we observe that he will be in the Central Hall, Blackhill, on Tuesday, succeeding evenings.

ENTERTAINMENT AT CONSETT.—In support of the entertainment given in the Assembly Rooms, Consett, for the benefit of the and family of the late Mr. J. Craig, were one or two important particulars. Mr. J. Robson gave in splendid style the song, "The G Bes"; Messrs. J. Surtees and G. W. Robson executed a masterly duet on the clog dancing performance by J. Robson being much admired; and a humorous lecture on "Patent Medicines," Puff-blast, created some of the best to state that the expression "motley" was used with intention to cast any slight on the company present.

INCIDENT OF LAND AT CONSETT.—In consequence of the recent serious damage to house property in Consett, caused by the working of an influential meeting of property owners, was held on Friday last, at the house of Mr.

Brown, Railway Hotel, Consett, to come question of the relations existing between lives and the lessees of the coal—not only in it, but throughout the whole district, common in Lanchester Common. The chair was read by Mr. John Calvert. A very strong feeling of disapprobation was expressed against the wanton destruction of property by colliery and after some discussion it was unanimously decided to call a general meeting of surface to be held in the Assembly Rooms, Consett, of April next, to further consider the

A subscription to defray preliminary was proposed, and heartily responded to present.

POL. ENTERTAINMENT AT CASTLEBIDE.—The entertainment given by the Castlebide

Castle Side Board School, took place on Friday evening, and proved highly successful. Proceeds were in aid of the children's yearly and in consequence there was a large attendance of parents and friends, every available space in the schoolroom being occupied. Mr J. T. Muse, chairman of the School Board, presided, and other members of the Board in attendance.

Mr. Scott, Mr. Lee, Mr. Laybourne, Mr. Ward (clerk). The programme was a very lengthy one, and consisted of songs by the infants, songs, duets, trios, songs, recitations, and dialogues; also selection of instrumental music, all rendered in capital style. The various scholars, who received frequent applause from the audience, and congratulated that Mr. Deane.

Two acting dialogues—one entitled "The Boy and the Girl" and the other "The Boy and the Girl" by five boys and two girls and the Paul Fry," by four boys and three girls. Special notice; both pieces were splendidly acted and fairly delighted the company. Next, "A glass, but not of sherry," given by the girls, and the song "Rule Britannia," by the boys, were much admired. During the evening the Chairman delivered a address, in which he thanked the audience.
