

ATTORNEY-GENERAL would be so

...with the reform as party questions.
...the law of the country as a
...whether the proposed change trial" will commence in Berlin shortly, are twenty in number.

and that Mr. A. Sullivan is occupied on a set of songs, which will appear shortly.

Journal says the last words of Cardinal Wiseman around him were "Here I am at last, like a home for the holidays."

the brigand chief, who was arrested by the de Vende, has been given up to the Italian and is believed to have been Caruso.

of the French signed on Friday morning the tract of Midle Franchen, grand daughter of his M. Moquaed.

to go a coal-dealer, named Tucker, killed a Moore, at Woodbury, near Exeter, by striking with a spade; the assault arose out of one of Moore's children.

to learn that, owing to continued ill-health, who came home a short time ago on leave of absence, had been obliged to resign the office of British Ambassador in London. Sir Frederick Bruce, who has filled the post of Minister at Peking, has been appointed his successor. Sir F. Bruce is at present in London.

TRADE INQUIRY.—A Board of Trade inquiry into North Shields, probably this week, into the arque Bysantium, of that port, which was port some ago upon the South-Eastern coast, from the Tyne to the Mediterranean.

which was introduced is described as exceed-and it has already become the rage in garrison ce. After the closing gallop the dancers as-se column and promenade the hall-room many tary step, whilst an obligato charivari is played sbourines, and minuets. At the head of the s a drum-major, who is chosen for his height erma-gour.

The wife of a doctor, it appeared that the geriatric old lady, and had a fondness for the one in question? was usually tied up, but it is loose while the doctor was working about would not call it off when it attacked the jury gave damages to the owner of $300.

In his Lenten pastoral, refers to the Pope's and says:—"We condemn all the doctrines and positions that have been condemned by His encyclical of the 8th of December last, and all heresies, and we condemn them in the name of the Lord."

applied.—Housekeepers and country families to procure Yeast when they require it. This is easily obtained, for Dr. HARRIS reports that BAKING POWDER is very efficacious for the pur-it is moreover pure and good, and its ingreinjuriously. Pies and Puddings should never be
it. Sold everywhere in penny packets and LIBERAL ELECTION.—We have every reason to believe that the candidature of Mr. Wallace, of Featherston, who was some time ago named as being to stand for this city on Conservative principles along with Mr. Hodgson—is generally disapproved by him. Their resolve is again to fight single-handed.—Our ranks we hear some talk of the formation of a new association to secure the triumph of Liberalism at the next election.—upon the basis of a large ex-

...ing scene occurred the other day in a Berlin hospital. In going the rounds of the wards the doctor found a man who had lost both his arms and legs. He asked him if there was anything he could do for him now, a victim of the late campaign, remembrance, have me shot." Deeply affected, and that he could not possibly fulfill this un-pleasant task, the doctor told him that he would try to get the doctors that had kept him alive. The doctor then left him.

week Her Majesty had a narrow escape from death by the falling of a huge elm tree in the park. Her Majesty was taking an airing on her Scotch pony, and proceeding through the tall grass at Windsor known as Queen Elizabeth's being led by a ghillie, and a groom following dance, when, fortunately, the servant observed the tree falling immediately over her Majesty. He did not loudly, and her Majesty, made aware by this timely alarm, escaped.

TRAINING FOSNILE.—Some ingenious rascals at Ave have been 'playing the geologists a trick. In clearing the excavations for a new cemetery at Ave, fragments of shells were discovered which caused the local geologists. The "find" proved a for the workmen, and several of them on the worked out obtained shells from Liverpool, and other parts of the country, to which, they gave "a true drift character." Not th, they proceeded to "manufacture a fossil," it is a piece of oilite; and Mr. Plant told the Geological Society on Tuesday that the sham ivory put together that "even an ordinary man have been deceived."

DUKE OF NORTHUMBRELAND.—The late Duke died in early life, entered the navy, and one of his tales is a pleasing anecdote, illustrative of Lord Alington Percy, as he was then known. A great distance was brought before the ship ploughed, and a subgration presented to his lordship his paper was sent to the Duke, who, after perusing it, wrote on 10, thus starting all the officers. The capital at once wrote to his lordship's father and the reply of the Duke was in keeping with disposition of the son:—"I will honour my any amount."—Court Journal.

DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.—A meeting of the Diocesan Association was held on Monday, under the presidency of the Bishop, in the drawing room of London House, as in connection with the Ladies' Diocesan Association.

which has been lately established. The Bishop has been on the various objects of religion and piety in the metropolis in which ladies are dwelling with especial emphasis on the which the presence of lady nurses and lady nurses in hospitals and workhouses. Several mentioned where the assistance of ladies was needed; and, though most of those present were engaged in works of benevolence, still a large proportion of names as willing to engage in this new and useful work.

ELL FISHING SMACK.—ONE MAN DROWNED.— Afternoon, the fishing smack Genia, Captain lost to Hull the crew of the smack Mariner, a lost in the late gale. It appears that on the 19th inst, the Mariner lost her gear. at once made for home. On Monday afternoon three o'clock, the wind blowing hard from heavy sea struck the vessel. It laid her for completely under water. When the vessel rose beam split, and quite disabled.

ACCIDENT.—On Saturday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, a small boat, carrying a party of about 15 persons, was out on the lake. The boat was capsized, and the party was rescued. The boat was carrying a party of about 15 persons, and the party was rescued. The boat was carrying a party of about 15 persons, and the party was rescued.

It appears that a party of three or four, were the deceased and his son-in-law, went away after dinner to spend the afternoon in bag shooting. The deceased was armed with a .243 in the stock and placed them in his coat. Then proceeded towards Collierly Low Wood, about two miles from Dipton. A gate at the estates of Mr. Warwick from those of the deceased, and in going through this gate something happened, causing the cap to explode and fire the Assistance was afterwards promptly provided, and the deceased removed home. The body was not affected at the occurrence as to require it home in a cart.

DEATH THROUGH MATERNAL AFFECTION.
Last night, shortly after eleven o'clock, Marion Steele, widow of the deceased John Parratt, left her home in quest of her son, living at the village of West Quarter. As she ing drive, she was afraid there might be a log, and though the snow was drifted deep on the road, this did not deter her from setting out alone, but only made her the more anxious for safety. It is reported that she met him on the old mill bridge. Some altercation took place, at which the thoughtless youth took arms back to the village; she followed her, but, doubt exhausted with what to her proved a long and tiring walk, she sat down in the snow near to the well at the mill. Being a thin creature, she was unable to rise.

of such a cold night more, and exposed to the elements, she crept out, and sat three till, strange to say, she was the first to find her, still, strange to say, her house close by. She was still in life. They thought they could be keeping the poor woman to her business, but all was of no avail. She died within an hour after, in the presence of him for whom maternal affection had prompted such a journey. It was an inclement season, and at such an unpropitious time, and on such a night, and for which he lay down with a made motherless, and an aged and infirm devoid of an affectionate nurse.—Hamilton

