THE CORN TRADE.

The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the corn trade, says vegetation everywhere shows the brightest promise since the sternness of March. No doubt, however, has yet happened in aid of prices, and almost certainly has been made of the anticipated reduction of present light duties as though protection was only just the eye of abolitionism. It is not probable that prices will again given way, and so may yet be a little export test in wheat as well as in barley and rye.

CORN MARKETS.
NEWCASTLE CORN MARKET, Tuesday.—At this date the market there was much less wheat shown by our fair than on Monday, and having only a small quantity of foreign arrivals, the business was not so brisk as on the previous day. The business done in both English and foreign was at the prices of this day week. Grinding barley and malt ran faster. Flour and peas unchanged. Oats dull at lower prices. Flour—

CATTLE MARKETS.

NEWCASTLE CATTLE MARKET, Tuesday.—The sale of stock prepared for sale exhibited an increase of business, but a decline in prices, and lambs, as compared with that of last week. Respecting quality, the cattle was mostly an average, while sheep was really good, both home-bred and foreign. The supply of beef comprised all levels, and the demand for it was in an active state at an advance of fully six per cent on the rates of this day or maybe, but it was very

MISCELLANEOUS MARKETS.

NEWCASTLE HAY AND STRAW MARKETS, Tuesday.—There were 125 carts of hay, and 61 carts of straw in market.

At the auction on Iron Market, Tuesday, — there was fair attention for the day, but business was quiet. All the pig markets are necessarily busy and are well sold forward at list prices, viz., No. 1, 6d.; No. 3, 4½d.; and No. 4, 4½d.; and the warms are well sold forward at 10½d. There is little more speculation in the market, but the price of live swine is quiet. Orders, however, do not come in with the usual steadiness which is desirable, buyers holding back on the belief that, owing to the increasing prices of pig feed, the market will be a little better.
