THE CORN TRADE.

The North Lake Express, in its review of the trade for the past week, says: "What has happened and several things have happened, and so naturally we are in a state of confusion. The market seems in prospect. A severe winter would be in favour of the seller by shutting up on the supply, increasing the demand among the farmers, while a portage would be used for the present. None but the French markets now have decided market. The American market is without stable change. Although American continue dull, the expectations from that quarter are considerably lessened by recent advice."
