LANCHESTER COMMON SUNDOWNERS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the members of this took place on Friday night at the chambers, Consett-Mr. N. Hladin, who had been invited to attend by Mr. J. M. Jones, the chairman, who had mentioned to him that the meeting was to be held. Mr. Jones drew, tutor of Little College, who is the owner of the land, and who had been asked to address the meeting. Mr. Dunn explained the position of owners with regard to the land, and the fact that the Lancaster Common, and also the land on which the new road was to be built, were interested in this matter, in connection with the recent action by the commoners to prevent the removal of the reservoir at Anfield Field by the council. Mr. Dunn then read a letter, and was enthusiastically with the subject in question, and his observations made a profound impression on the audience.

In the course of discussion, Mr. J. M. Jones, the chairman, said that he was not sure of the explanation as to the course in which the Council had been pursued by that Company in reference to the land, and he suggested that the Council should be asked to refer the matter to the Lords.

Mr. Jones suggested that the Water Board had defeated Mr. Riton in the first instance, and that he had subsequently been asked to refer the matter to the Lords, and that the Council had then both cases having been decided by the Lords, should institute further proceedings.

He said that he had been offered $2,000, and he urged that the board should not be asked to pay for the general body of surface owners.

An inquest was held at Lanchester on Tuesday afternoon, before Mr. J. Shepherd, deputy coroner, relative to the death of John Robertson, a vagrant 56 years of age, who died at the Lanchester workhouse on Monday.

It appears from the evidence that he was brought into the workhouse at 12 noon on Saturday, having been found lying on the pavement in the street. He was found in an exhausted condition. He was bathed, given dinner, and was placed in the ward, in order to be visited and examined by the medical officer.

He was seen by Dr. H. D. Smith at 3 p.m. that afternoon, and at 3:30 he was dead.—After hearing the medical testimony, the jury returned a verdict of death.

They returned the vehicle to the station from which it was being supposed to convey a bath had proved a shattering nervous system.

WHAT SAYS THE TO

That the long-promised gas-oil light defective oil lamps in the carriage Derwent Valley line are still awaiting repair.

That in this and many and other North-Eastern Company is very much to be desired.

That it is now high time the company to issuing return tickets available any time within seven days of the date stations within twenty miles distance.

That this concession has been in line of other concessions for Companies for part, and in some instances, concession greater.

That the day is not far distant when companies will be compelled to be available for return at any time and Eastern amongst them. If not, why not?

The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor creases and discoloration, characteristic of old paper. On the right side, the binding of the book is visible, showing a dark, worn material, possibly leather or cloth, with some stitching or stitching visible. The overall lighting is even, highlighting the texture of the paper and the binding.
