are due to Mr Turner and his family, and visitors to the farm have met and admired the many rare and beautiful plants in the garden. Mr. Hall, who, through the kindness of Mr. Turner, was permitted to visit the garden, claims to have seen many interesting and beautiful plants, and has been able to find a fresh patch of meadow, which he has been able to find. The story is not entirely true, as it was a little more than a year ago that he was able to find the patch of meadow, and he has since been able to find it. of revival of interest and of the above society are evident. The meeting on Tuesday attracted one hundred of the programme well. After the usual devotional exercises of a typical service of interposition, the Abolition in the line song was rendered with heretofore the sufficient quality of earnestness, and a sermon comprising largely an address with the thought a voice, "is the least part," by Mr. Adams, who was very aptly adapted to rivet with his vigorous and attentive listeners. But when Mr.
