

A movement has been set on foot to introduce the

There were no less than 26,632 visitors at the Crystal Palace on Tuesday, on the occasion of the annual benefit. Mr. Strange, the purveyor of the establishment.

An old drunkard asked Mr. Norton, the Lambeth magistrate, to take a kindly view of his case, on the ground that he was on the point of settling, on the ground that he was on the point of settling.

It is said that speculators are beginning to lose confidence in the possibility of prepared rice being applied to the market, and the result might a great fall in the price of rice. On Friday afternoon, when Blodien was performing the Crystal Palace king of the low row with the chair, a man, who was supposed to be a friend of Blodien, of foremost, the chair backwards.

Mr Henry Robert Gunning died, on Monday, at Hereford, of apoplexy, at the age of 60. He was succeeded in his title and estates by his brother, the late Henry John Gunning, Alderman, rector of Wigan, Lancashire.

Mr Gray, a reporter for the London press, has been appointed a libel agent on Mr Phillips, a horse-drainer, who was fined a year of £250. The libel was contained in an article in the Standard of the 10th inst., and the reporter was unable to prove the accuracy of the report.

THE DEATH OF WRITING.—The reporter of a contemporary describing a scene in London, says:—"The deplorable element, constituted with bands of flag, belaboured with its crimson line and spread the cry of 'Flag of destruction over entire squares, unobscured by the vapour of the effusions of the firmen, who seemed like lost spirits in the hall of Pandemonium, as they flitted around the theatre spectacle.'"

TAKE OF TENET ELECTION.—The nomination of candidates to take place on Monday, in presence of an immense embassage. Mr Grenfell, Mr Sergeant Shee, and Mr Hope were respectively proposed, and spoke for much time. Mr Grenfell was in favour of a moderate and efficient, but on the following day he had 32 votes. The numbers for Mr Grenfell were 1,650.

Mr Hope 218.

THE CONFEDERATE NAVY.—The Liverpool Daily Post writes that besides the commissions consigned to various builders by the Southern Confederacy, and which being pushed forward with all possible despatch, a new iron-plated ram is now being constructed on the spot, without much attempt at concealment.

THE NEW POACHING ACT.—This measure has been overruled to be seriously defective. It is doubtful, in the wording of the statute, whether a policeman, in carrying out its provisions, can go a step beyond the "borough, or place to which he is appointed." The right of search also is said to be restricted to any

TO MORE SILVER REQUIRED.—Mr. J. W. Benson, well-known silvermith, of Cornhill, has introduced to notice a first-class specimen of Argentina, "as taken from spoons, forks, and other articles of domestic use." Their appearance is certainly such that, but for the influence of the customary credentials of silver, detection would be almost impossible. They are arranged not in a pile, but in a row, and with proper care will stand a very long time of hard wear.—British Standard, March 12.

Benjamin, Prize Medalist, No. 6905, International Exhibition 1862, has just published a most elaborate and complete Catalogue of his manufactures, both in Argent and Silver Plate. It consists of 130 pp. Imperial and includes full and carefully arranged price and upwards of 300 engravings of articles of various kinds. It will be sent post-free by enclosing six stamps. W. Benson, 46 and 47, Cornhill, London, E.C.

THE PALMERSTON AND GARIBOLDI.—The good friends of Italy who have despatched Mr. Partridge to Genoa with the mission of ascertaining what he can hardly be supposed to know the depth of a subsidy necessary to such semi-official journalism—to learn that La Tribuna insinuates that this "doctrine" is a pretext created by Lord Palmerston to communicate with that without willing disgust." The Paris also said that Professor Partridge, as soon as he had received the letter, had immediately sent £2,000 sterling, not as the amount of a public subscription, but as an offering from Lord Palmerston, the British ambassador in Paris, to the benefit of the English people for his enterprise.

THE SCOTCH AND CHINESE After a BURGULARY, during the past six weeks, has been the cause of much trouble to the police of the city, the burglar having failed to apprehend the burglar, the owners of premises in the principal streets have ordered the police to be on the watch.

On Tuesday morning, however, between one o'clock, Police Constable Wyne succeeded in apprehending a burglar, who was carrying a large bag of money, and was taken to the police station in a cab. Having taken the burglar into custody, he was about to remove him to the police office, when a large number of people, who were attracted by the sight of the burglar, who had been so long in the city, overpowered the officer, and released him.

The burglar, who was named John Smith, was made off with a bag of money, and, finding himself pursued by a large number of people, he fled to a house in the city, where he was again apprehended, but after a

UNUSUAL ESCAPE.—The burglar ran for his life, but he was not a fast runner. The policeman, following him, saw him nearly two hours, he gave himself up, apparently from exhaustion.

men, by the aid of lights, that, having recovered his exhaustion, he was again erect with his legs, and then presented itself how to extricate him. It was at first determined that he should be killed at the spot, and then slung up by means of the ropes and buckets used by the men at work to bring up the dead material. But subsequently, after consulting the opinion of the animal, it was determined to try the means of extricating him alive, and a strong force of stalwart brewers in the neighbourhood volunteered their services for the purpose. Bringing their tackle and tools, they and the sewerage men descended into the shaft, and, having secured it round the legs, and kind quarters, the bull, succeeded in half an hour, (quarter of 12), to get him out of the the windlass and a long pole, a strong pull, and altogether, in bringing their bovine burden, of 600 stone weight, safely, and amid the cheers of all, to the surface, when the animal, marvellous was found only to have sustained a fracture of the fore legs, and was able to walk a distance of yards down hill to a neighbouring yard in Saffron-bury he was safely housed for the night.

DAY RIDE IN LEEDS.—A disgraceful riot occurred at Kirkstall-road on Sunday afternoon. James Cook (the brother of the well known black pugilist), and a man called the Shakespeare Inn, York-street, about to leave the town for Wolverhampton, from some of his customers, principally Irishmen, from a high school of High Street.

her's beerhouse, the New Inn, Kirkstall, where they had several gallons of ale, and at three o'clock turned out excited with drink, they commenced an Englishman who was passing at the time. The forgermen who live in the neighbourhood joining this, mustered in great force, and a regular assault. Stones and bricks were thrown in plenty on all sides, and the affray continued until the police arrived. Twelve of the ringleaders of the riot, all of whom were apprehended and taken to the Town-hall, where the injuries were attended to. A man named Senior, who was passing by, was not commemoated by some of the drunken fellows, and only escaped by rushing off, leaving his coat in rage in their hands.

CAMBRIC FRILLING.—Every mother knows how me the little frillings are, and, when completed, and upon as scarcely short of luxuries—as many, ours have been spent over them. These frillings have taken up a permanent position; they are alive, and to be obtained at any draper's establishment from thence will assuredly find their way into the pockets in the kingdom. Messrs. J. and J. Coventry, and Inventors. Would they had existed a few years ago! The finger has had a certain nervous twinge at the loss of this charming and whipping of endless collection of frillings and appendage to baby's wardrobe; and as for the frillings, which had always to be hemmed, there are memories of fearful sorrow over these absent

All thanks to Messrs. Cash, for so kindly coming rescue of the useful little girls of a family. There is a paper that all the morning robes of the coming are to be white; and we have seen a toilet robe wedding bride, which is throughout trimmed with silings. If it be possible, we shall give an en-of it next month. Meanwhile, as it is our aim servant, not alone for our own benefit, but for can help others, we are glad to introduce these made frillings and strings to those in need.—Ladies' Fr.

We c
Most of
as laid b
give this statemen
of death.
On Th
deceased

her residence lent her night of
she was reason was to see her Fleming.
a box be the South
addressed called for

called at removed acquainta taken to left the b a road. I afterward spoke to a
had a bun it, and he Glasgow a
to "Mrs wants it a

at the Glasgow and Glasgow taken by the in Greenock found to which had On Friday day three of the deco subsequent prisoner. plate stolen murdered,

Much evid
ing found had broo
murder—
belonged dence add
a very gre
ing. Dr.
that some woman's old Flemi
prisoner, w

that the po diately pri
was then i
murder se
money she
the case fo
Mr. C.
made by ground th
before her
the sheriff was not i
a considera

soner; that than the p tain quest prisoner be Lord D
tions were portant, at the public cupation b
—stated th lan's) hous
was not in class on about seven finally aban-

in by a ch
eight next admitted before the tell what some mon
which the
Mr. C.

EXTRA

The pris-
been drawn
says that s night, the
she was ac
was sent

"When I found the open. I ran to the kitchen, but I was too late. The door, and the cats." I said.

away home out with his moving in the old man found Jesse and her b
She had a cut, and s
large qua bonnet an
and asked
for. He s an accide

nothing on her, and su
him fetch a kitchen. I did this be
make out.
was not af
warm water
cold water, in from the
away the l
cut. I said
e thing

a thing as
and seeme pened. I would be her sort of
and I supp
In a little she was co
and gave u
get no exp
tised batt
till she got better. I

doctor, and I would.
to her at head the large tin commence
round abo
it into a b
on the flo down on when he
my feet, a
were wet

[illegible]

doctor she and said,
for the
she was turning h
to mean t sent. She break, or three o'cl
came to b Latterly,
bedside

the bed-
went be-the hou-
fire, and n

