Halakum Greenwood had seemed to be lost in deep reverie of half a minute, when he said, "Well, I don't see why you should be interested in me. I don't know that I am, who they are attending to. I presume that this old A. J. and I are pretty well known to each other, and that we are of greater power than the average of the people. I am sure that an ugly old man like me cannot reflect too deeply on the subject of averting a catastrophe. It would be cruel to the world to be cruel in the punishment of her delinquencies."
